Phillips Graduate Institute

Master of Marriage and Family Therapy

Dear Master of Marriage and Family Therapy Candidates:

Thank you for joining the Phillips Graduate Institute family. For almost 50 years, we have maintained a legacy that includes a high academic standard, a relationship-focused model, a strong experiential component, and provision of outstanding, culturally responsive service to the broader community through our CalFam Counseling Center.

Your choice of marriage and family therapist as a profession says some important things about you as a person. You have chosen a field in the human services; you are a giving individual. You have declared your values and priorities by enrolling in this program. We are here to help you succeed -- your success is our success.

The worthwhile journey to the master's degree, and eventually to licensure, is rigorous. Please allow the administration, faculty, and staff to come along side you on this journey. My door is open to you -- at Phillips we are not just teaching therapists, we are creating colleagues.

Yours,

Randy Christopher, MS, LMFT

Historical Overview

History of Phillips Graduate Institute

A nonprofit educational, counseling, training, and research center, Phillips Graduate Institute traces its origin to the 1950s when Clinton E. Phillips, Ph.D., pioneered the application of family systems theory and the initiation of family therapy at the American Institute of Family Relations.

In 1971, Dr. Phillips and T. David Jansen, D. Min., founded the California Family Study Center (CFSC) as the only freestanding graduate program in the country dedicated solely to the field of human relationships. Built upon the family systems model, the graduate program in Marriage and Family Therapy attracted a diverse population of students brought together by a shared passion for making a difference.

As the program gained momentum, it quickly became known as a leader in mental health higher education across the profession. In 1996, in recognition of his innovative leadership, the Board of Trustees honored Dr. Phillips by changing the name of CFSC to Phillips Graduate Institute. In 2019, Phillips became part of Campbellsville University and is known now as Phillips Graduate Institute.

With almost 50 years of excellence in graduate education and training, Phillips is a free-standing, non-profit, non-residential, non-sectarian graduate school dedicated to the training and preparation of students as marriage and family therapists.

Today, Phillips remains at the forefront of confronting complex intrapersonal social issues, exploring new avenues for change, and ultimately creating an academic program that is shaped by the communities it serves.

Historical Overview

History of Campbellsville University

Campbellsville University was founded in 1906 by the Russell Creek Baptist Association as the Russell Creek Academy. The Academy grew and expanded with improvements both in curriculum and facilities. In 1924, the institution was renamed Campbellsville College and in 1933 joined the Kentucky Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. In 1949, the College was accredited by the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges as a junior college. In December 1963, the College received membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as an accredited liberal arts college. In 1996, Campbellsville College advanced to University status. The University currently awards a variety of associate, baccalaureate, and master's degrees.

In the spring of 2013 the University had 150 full-time faculty. Over 70 percent of our full-time educators hold terminal degrees in their disciplines. Student enrollment is approximately 3500, consisting of individuals from 36 states and 37 foreign countries. The student/faculty ratio is 13:1. Our Louisville Center services over 250 students and our Somerset Center approximately 50 students.

Campbellsville University is a comprehensive co-educational institution located in Campbellsville Kentucky with satellite locations in Louisville, Somerset, Hodgenville, Russell Springs, Northern Kentucky, Pineville, and the Los Angeles Education Center in Chatsworth, California.

Campbellsville University is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award Associate, Bachelor, and Master's degrees. Contact the Commission on Colleges at 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097, or call 404-679-4500 for questions about the University's accreditation.

MISSION AND VALUES

The Phillips Mission

“Our mission is to provide outstanding education and training to students as well as counseling services to the community. We inspire personal transformation and professional excellence in an experiential, collaborative, and innovative learning environment.”

Phillips Values

THE CHALLENGE TO GROW AND DEVELOP

This is applicable at the individual, family, and organizational levels. We apply it to ourselves and others.

COLLABORATIVE INVOLVEMENT

This is the catalyst for innovative and effective solutions outside the organization.

INTEGRITY

We encourage the making and honoring of commitments, consistency, and wholeness even under challenging circumstances.

CREATIVITY

Institutional support for creativity helps to find new solutions and to look “out of the box” for new opportunities in times of change.

APPRECIATION FOR DIVERSITY

We can capitalize on the advantage of differences; we can learn new ways of doing things from each other.

CONTRIBUTION TO POSITIVE SOCIAL CHANGE

Every person involved with Phillips Graduate Institute contributes to the well-being of the community. This contribution, however seemingly small, is eventually reflected at global levels.

Program Information

Purpose of the Master of Marriage and Family Therapy Program:

Purpose of the Master of Marriage and Family Therapy Program: For almost 50 years, Phillips' Marriage and Family Therapy program has been training students to become culturally competent and effective marriage and family therapists. The Master in Marriage and Family Therapy Program's (MMFT) mission is to empower students to make a difference in the lives of others and to help them grow professionally and personally.

Our MMFT program integrates theory and practice, preparing students with the academic knowledge, clinical competency, cultural humility, and professional development necessary to successfully practice as marriage and family therapists. Phillips students have access to exceptional educational opportunities; we offer a cutting-edge training facility that includes students' one-way mirror observation of live therapy, allowing them to experience clinical modeling by faculty who are licensed, practicing professionals. As such, students begin developing their clinical abilities from the moment they begin the program. Phillips students have a rich and dynamic learning environment, and our graduates are highly regarded for their professionalism in the mental health field.

Training opportunities for students are also available at the California Family Counseling Center (CalFam), Phillip's onsite community counseling center. CalFam is a primary training site for Phillips students, and the Counseling Center has been providing affordable community mental health services to diverse clientele since 1971.

All course work in the MMFT program is designed to fulfill the mission, goals, and competencies consistent with the values of Phillips and ethical codes of the profession. The curriculum of this program has been accepted by the California Board of Behavior Sciences for Licensure in the state of California for marriage and family therapists. The MMFT program is regionally accredited through Campbellsville University, and the accrediting body is the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACSOCS).

MMFT Mission Statement

MMFT Mission Statement: The mission of the MMFT program at Phillips Graduate Institute Los Angeles Education Center of Campbellsville University is to create an educational experience that fosters inclusiveness, supports collaborative learning, and provides students with the academic knowledge, clinical competency, cultural humility, and professional development necessary for beginning practice as marriage and family therapists in diverse environments. Students who complete the program demonstrate self-awareness and a commitment to ethical practice, cultural competency, and relational responsibility in service to individuals, couples, and families, to their communities, and to the profession of marriage and family therapy. Students who complete the program will have met the educational requirements for becoming a licensed marriage and family therapist (LMFT) in California.

The MMFT program requires students to successfully complete 60 credit hours of coursework. The curriculum meets the education requirements of the California Licensure Board for Marriage and Family Therapists. The MMFT program is designed to prepare graduates with the knowledge and skills to counsel individuals, couples, and families.

Criteria and Processes for Student Admissions

Applicants to the MMFT Program at Phillips must meet the school's admissions requirements in order to be considered for admission. Requirements are:

1. A bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited institution.
2. Completion of an application for admission to Phillips' Master of Marriage and Family Therapy program. A $80 application fee is required.
3. Submit official transcripts from your bachelor's degree conferral college or university and all previous colleges or universities where graduate level coursework was completed.
4. Three letters of recommendation regarding academic potential for graduate study.
5. A 400-700 word essay describing (a) why you want to become a therapist, and (b) some of the experiences and abilities that will make you an effective therapist.

While past professional experiences strengthen an application, no academic credit is given for life experience.

The Admissions Committee consists of the MMFT Program Director at Campbellsville University, the Site Director for the MMFT Program at Phillips, and MMFT program faculty members. Each member in attendance during the student interview recommends one of the following actions:

1. Full acceptance
2. Conditional acceptance, specifying conditions that must be improved or corrected
3. Denial

After application materials are reviewed, a letter of decision, invitation, or both are mailed to the applicant at the address provided on the application.

Please submit your MMFT Program application materials to:

Phillips Graduate Institute
19900 Plummer Street
Chatsworth, CA 90311
Attn: Enrollment Services

Applications may be submitted at any time and are reviewed continually. The MMFT program accepts new students at the beginning of each new academic term. Applications are reviewed and interviews are scheduled once all application materials have been received by the program. In order to register for courses in your desired term of study, the application materials must be processed and the entrance interview conducted 30 days in advance of the term beginning fall or spring.

The MMFT Degree features a program designed to meet education requirements for licensure as a marriage and family therapist in the state of California.

The 60-credit hour program is delivered over 5 terms. Courses are typically offered on a weekday and on Saturday. Courses are scheduled in 16-week terms for Fall and Spring.

The Summer term is 15 weeks. A sequenced calendar of courses is recommended and included in this handbook. A full-time course of study is between 11-13 units per term. Students are eligible to begin their practicum experience after they have successfully completed 13 credit hours and have met the criteria for trainee approval status. A student desiring part-time study will meet with the MMFT Site Director and the student's MMFT Advisor to create a part-time academic plan for each term. Along with challenging and expanding student knowledge, the MMFT program focuses on relationships. Consistent with the mission of Phillips, the MMFT program works toward developing individuals who commit to positive social change.

If a student is considering working in states other than California, the student is responsible for seeking and acquiring the respective state's policy regarding licensure. The student should contact their MMFT Advisor and Phillips' MMFT Site Director who will work in conjunction with the student to work toward a plan that will meet the respective state's licensing requirements.

MMFT Program Goals and Student Learning Outcomes

MMFT Program Goal #1: Knowledge of a variety of developmental theories, relational/systemic theoretical models, as well as other models of human behavior.

- 8.1 Graduates will apply for BBS Marriage and Family Therapist Associate numbers.
- 8.2 Graduates will successfully pass both Marriage and Family Therapist state licensing exams.

MMFT Program Goal #9: Employment within the field of marriage and family therapy or applying marriage and family therapy skills in their employment

- 9.1 Graduates will be employed as MFTs within the mental health or related field.

Marriage and Family Therapy Core Competencies© December, 2004

The marriage and family therapy (MFT) core competencies were developed through a collaborative effort of the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT) and interested stakeholders. In addition to defining the domains of knowledge and requisite skills in each domain that comprise the practice of marriage and family therapy, the ultimate goal of the core competencies is to improve the quality of services delivered by marriage and family therapists (MFTs). Consequently, the competencies described herein represent the minimum that MFTs licensed to practice independently must possess.

Creating competencies for MFTs and improving the quality of mental health services was considered in the context of the broader behavioral health system. The AAMFT relied on three important reports to provide the framework within which the competencies would be developed: Mental Health: A Report of the Surgeon General; the President's New Freedom Commission on Mental Health's Achieving the Promise: Transforming Mental Health Care in America; and the Institute of Medicine's Crossing the Quality Chasm. The AAMFT mapped the competencies to critical elements of these reports, including IOM's 6 Core Values that are seen as the foundation for a better health care system: 1) Safe, 2) Person-Centered, 3) Efficient, 4) Effective, 5) Timely, and 6) Equitable. The committee also considered how social, political, historical, and economic forces affect individual and relational problems and decisions about seeking and obtaining treatment.

The core competencies were developed for educators, trainers, regulators, researchers, policymakers, and the public. The current version has 128 competencies; however, these are likely to be modified as the field of family therapy develops and as the needs of clients change. The competencies will be reviewed and modified at regular intervals to ensure the competencies are reflective of the current and best practice of MFT.

The core competencies are organized around 6 primary domains and 5 secondary domains.

The primary domains are:

- 1) Admission to Treatment – All interactions between clients and therapist up to the point when a therapeutic contract is established.
- 2) Clinical Assessment and Diagnosis – Activities focused on the identification of the issues to be addressed in therapy.
- 3) Treatment Planning and Case Management – All activities focused on directing the course of therapy and extra-therapeutic activities.
- 4) Therapeutic Interventions – All activities designed to ameliorate the clinical issues identified.
- 5) Legal Issues, Ethics, and Standards – All aspects of therapy that involve statutes, regulations, principles, values, and mores of MFTs.
- 6) Research and Program Evaluation – All aspects of therapy that involve the systematic analysis of therapy and how it is conducted effectively.

The subsidiary domains are focused on the types of skills or knowledge that MFTs must develop. These are: a) Conceptual, b) Perceptual, c) Executive, d) Evaluative, and e) Professional.

Although not expressly written for each competency, the stem “Marriage and family therapists...” should begin each. Additionally, the term “client” is used broadly and refers to the therapeutic system of the client/s served, which includes, but is not limited to individuals, couples, families, and others with a vested interest in helping clients change. Similarly, the term “family” is used generically to refer to all people identified by clients as part of their “family system,” this would include fictive kin and relationships of choice. Finally, the core competencies encompass behaviors, skills, attitudes, and policies that promote awareness, acceptance, and respect for differences, enhance services that meet the needs of diverse populations, and promote resiliency and recovery.

Domain 1: Admission to Treatment

5.5.3	Professional	Pursue professional development through self-supervision, collegial consultation, professional reading, and continuing educational activities.
5.5.4	Professional	Bill clients and third-party payers in accordance with professional ethics, relevant laws and policies, and seek reimbursement only for covered services.

Domain 6: Research and Program Evaluation

Number	Subdomain	Competence
6.1.1	Conceptual	Know the extant MFT literature, research, and evidence-based practice.
6.1.2	Conceptual	Understand research and program evaluation methodologies, both quantitative and qualitative, relevant to MFT and mental health services.
6.1.3	Conceptual	Understand the legal, ethical, and contextual issues involved in the conduct of clinical research and program evaluation.
6.2.1	Perceptual	Recognize opportunities for therapists and clients to participate in clinical research.
6.3.1	Executive	Read current MFT and other professional literature.
6.3.2	Executive	Use current MFT and other research to inform clinical practice.
6.3.3	Executive	Critique professional research and assess the quality of research studies and program evaluation in the literature.
6.3.4	Executive	Determine the effectiveness of clinical practice and techniques.
6.4.1	Evaluative	Evaluate knowledge of current clinical literature and its application.
6.5.1	Professional	Contribute to the development of new knowledge.

Marriage and Family Therapy Curriculum

Marriage & Family Core Curriculum (required) - 60 units

Traineeship - 500 hours total (200 individual direct client hours, 200 relational direct client hours, plus 100 alternative hours):

Minimum 200 Relational Hours
Maximum 200 Individual Hours
Maximum 100 Alternative Hours

Students may begin their practicum experience after they have successfully completed 13 credit hours in the program. Prior to beginning the experience, students must obtain approval from Phillips' MMFT Core Faculty; if students are at a site other than the California Family Counseling Center, then the Co-Director(s) of Clinical Placement must approve the adequacy of the field agency and the field agency supervisor. Finally, an Affiliation Agreement between Phillips and the Agency must be prepared and executed by all parties before students may begin seeing clients at the site.

Program Dissemination

All Phillips MMFT courses are taught during the day or in the evenings by a team of core and adjunct faculty. Phillips uses an educator/practitioner model in which each faculty member is a licensed mental health professional and has an active clinical practice in addition to teaching at Phillips.

MMFT Application Policies

Admission Notification

Applicants will receive a written letter of notification when:

- a) All admission materials are received
- b) Students will be provided notification about the results as soon as they are available.
Notification will indicate acceptance, conditional acceptance or denial.

Conditional Admission

Students accepted into the MMFT program as conditional

1. Must maintain a grade of “B” or higher in all coursework taken in the first two full terms (10 courses) of enrollment.
2. Have their course performance assessed (each term) by their MMFT Advisor who will report progress to Phillips’ MMFT Site Director, and the MMFT Program Director (Campbellsville University).
3. Complete all admissions requirements not met during the admissions review and interview, thus responsible for “conditional acceptance,” by the end of the second week of the first term.
4. Earn no more than one “C” (C-, or C, or C+) grade during graduate program enrollment.

Students Rights and Responsibilities

All students enrolled in programs provided by Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University have the right:

1. To be treated with dignity and respect.
2. To fair and impartial treatment relative to issues of admission, continuance, and termination in the marriage and family therapy program.
3. To inclusion in the decision-making process related to curriculum and program issues through the student representatives elected by each cohort.

Safety

Safety is the ability to express self without fear of reprisal. Within the classroom and clinic, faculty and students will not discriminate based on student’s race, ethnicity, class, gender, sexual identity, religion, or worldview. Safety does not include freedom from discomfort, as students grow through challenging experiences which may cause discomfort.

All students have a responsibility:

1. To uphold their respective professional code of ethics.
2. To be an active participant in the learning process and the development of the professional self which includes values, attitudes, self-awareness, and professional skills.
3. To sign the MMFT program's Statement of Understanding and Commitment to Ethical Practices (see Appendix A). The signed statement pledges your commitment to providing the program your employment location and responsibilities for a period of not less than three years after graduation. This information is kept within a secure, password protected computer, and is used only for assessment purposes. The data requested does not include social security number, but it does include date of birth, age at graduation, race, gender, student ID, contact information, agency name, supervising employers name, location of employment (address), and work activities. The information is kept for immediate and future evaluation and is not shared with the Alumni Office or the Business Office. The signed form also confirms your agreement to abide by the requirements of the program at Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University and by the AAMFT Code of Ethics.

Graduate Examination

Prior to graduation, and in order to receive their degree diplomas, all MMFT students must successfully complete three comprehensive capstone experiences: a written examination and an oral examination covering MMFT program content, and completion of all requirements in the Professional Project course. Students will complete the capstone experiences during MFC 534 Applied Therapeutic Methodology: Relational Therapy II and MFC 522 Professional Project. Students must pass MFC 534 Applied Therapeutic Methodology – Relational Therapy II and MFC 522 Professional Project before they participate in graduation activities.

Grade Point Average

No student may graduate with an MMFT Program GPA of less than 3.0 or with more than one "C" grade (C-, or C, or C+) in their MMFT program graduate coursework.

Non-Academic Behavior

At a minimum, students are expected to follow Phillips Code of Conduct (see Appendix C). In addition, students are expected to adhere to the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy Code of Ethics (https://www.aamft.org/Legal_Ethics/Code_of_Ethics.aspx). Students accused or suspected of violating Phillips Code of Ethics and/or the AAMFT Code of Ethics will be referred to the Student Evaluation and Review Committee (SERC). The Committee's decision may include remediation or dismissal, depending upon the severity of the violation. The following constitute examples for which termination from the program will be seriously considered:

1. Violation of the intent/spirit of the AAMFT Code of Ethics and professional values. For example, if there is:
 - a) Failure to respect the dignity and promote the welfare of clients.
 - b) A professional relationship boundary violation.
 - c) Plagiarism.
2. Impaired performance secondary to alcohol and/or substance abuse.
3. Criminal conviction.
4. Poor performance in the Field Practicum even after remediation, intervention, or arbitration.

If an MMFT faculty member identifies issues of concern related to student performance as described above, the student will be notified in writing of the issues of concern. If not resolved, the faculty member may ask for a review to be conducted by the SERC. A student will be invited to present his/her comments to the committee, depending upon the nature of the issue.

Decisions of the committee may include:

1. Continuance in the program.
2. Provisional continuance in the program; continuance will be permitted provided specific criteria are met within a specified time frame. The criteria will be specified in writing and a follow-up meeting will be held to consider whether the criteria have been met.
3. Termination from the MMFT program.

Student Evaluation and Review Committee

Overview: The Student Evaluation and Review Committee (SERC) assists Phillips in monitoring student academic performance and professional development by providing support and counsel for students who experience academic and/or professional development difficulties. The SERC review can include grades, written evaluations, clinical skills, professional behavior, and faculty observations that concern a student's fit for the profession.

The purpose of the SERC is to provide students with a due process through its proceedings by

- (1) offering a vehicle for student support and remediation;
- (2) recommending a Warning of Probation for a student exhibiting unsatisfactory academic performance or professional development;
- (3) recommending that a student be placed on probation when unsatisfactory performance persists after a Warning of Probation; and
- (4) recommending termination of a student from a program when it is deemed that satisfactory performance by the student is not attainable.

The committee is comprised of the SERC Chair, faculty representative(s), the Executive Director of the Los Angeles Educational Center, and the MMFT Program Director from Campbellsville University.

The nature of the SERC meetings is academic rather than legal proceedings; therefore, the presence of legal counsel and representation of any party is not appropriate and is not permitted. All SERC meetings and related communications are governed by the confidentiality/privacy provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). Discussions, deliberations, decisions, and recommendations by the SERC may not be shared with people outside the Committee, other than for legitimate educational purposes consistent with FERPA.

The SERC Process: The first step in addressing student concerns is through an informal process whereby the student works directly with the instructor, the student's MMFT Advisor, and/or Phillips' MMFT Site Director. Early attention to student difficulties is highly recommended. If the problem can be managed and monitored within the department, and if the student demonstrates satisfactory progress, the file will be closed.

Students who do not make academic or professional satisfactory progress will be referred to a more formal process of evaluation. The instructor will submit a Statement of Concern to the student, the SERC Chair, the Phillips MMFT Site Director, and the MMFT Program Director (Campbellsville University). The Phillips MMFT Site Director will create a remediation plan in consultation with the instructor and/or MMFT Advisor utilizing other institutional resources to support the student's progress (e.g., special accommodations). The student's progress will be monitored and additional meetings will be provided as needed. If the student makes satisfactory progress and concerns are resolved, the case will be closed. The Statement of Concern and remediation plan will become part of the student's file.

During instances in which a student does not demonstrate satisfactory progress, the Phillips MMFT Site Director will refer the student to the SERC process. In rare cases involving urgent matters, students may self-refer to the SERC if they meet one or more criteria outlined below and have asked the Phillips MMFT Site Director for a referral that has not yet been made. All requests to meet with the SERC require mandatory attendance by the student.

The SERC process helps to maximize student success by upholding the academic and professional standards regarding student evaluation. Students are referred to the SERC by the Phillips MMFT Site Director when:

- Student has violated the Academic Integrity and/or Student Code of Conduct policies.
- Issues related to unprofessional conduct (e.g., clinical/professional/academic suitability) have been documented by a Statement of Concern or a record of advisement.
- The G.P.A. for any term falls below 3.0.
- There is more than one grade of "Incomplete" on a student record.
- There are two or more "Statements of Concern" in one term.
- The student does not meet the standards established by the academic program to begin clinical/professional experience.
- There is a grade of "C-, C, or C+" or below in any course.
- There are two or more grades of "C" (C-, or C, or C+) or below in a given term.
- Follow-up to a previous SERC meeting is recommended.

After meeting with the student, the SERC will either recommend a remediation plan to further assist that student in achieving and maintaining satisfactory progress or recommend dismissal. The SERC Chair will make the final decision. The final decision is communicated to the student by letter from the Phillips MMFT Site Director. The written summary of the committee's evaluation and recommendations and the SERC Chair decision become part of the student's file. Copies are maintained by the SERC Chair, the MMFT Site Director, the student's MMFT Advisor, and the Registration Office to be maintained in the student's file.

Appeal of Non-Academic Behavior

The student dissatisfied with the decision of the SERC may file an appeal as follows: Students may file an appeal about a decision made by the SERC for issues such as program continuance or termination. To appeal the student must file a written grievance, submit it to the Vice President for Academic Affairs (VPAA) at Campbellsville University and schedule a hearing through the office of the VPAA of Campbellsville University at (270) 789-5231 (special accommodations for technology may be available for Los Angeles Education Center campus students). No legal council is necessary or permitted.

Course Policies

Student Class Participation and Attendance

Students are required to attend ALL class sessions. Professional functioning typically involves collegial sharing and peer support. By being present in class, students develop a commitment to, and a skill in, mutual problem solving. Each class builds on previous material, which further enhances the need for consistent attendance. A professional degree program trains students to become professionals in the workplace. It is important for students to begin practicing a good work ethic in the classroom that will be essential for field practicum and later employment; for this reason, class attendance is mandatory.

Classroom Behavior

Students are expected to learn collegiality and to develop listening skills. Professional collegiality demands respect for another's viewpoints and statements. Listening is both a skill and an art that requires ongoing practice. In class and in the field, students are expected to demonstrate collegiality, respect, and the ability to listen and hold confidences. Side conversations, dozing, texting, using technology for non-coursework, or doing homework while an instructor, guest speaker, or fellow student is talking is impolite and inappropriate. Students conducting impolite or inappropriate activities may be asked to leave the classroom or may have points deducted from their course grades.

Student Papers

Effective written expression is essential for professional practitioners whose records often decide a client's fate, as in court and medical cases. Thus, students are expected to always present their ideas clearly and properly. Grammar, punctuation, and spelling are to be correct in all papers submitted. Papers are to be typed, double-spaced and must conform to professional American Psychological Association (APA) standards of writing. Papers not conforming to these standards of style and exactness will be returned without a grade. Papers demonstrating serious deficiencies in common English usage will also be returned without a grade.

Please note that students are also expected to attain a level of writing consistent with mental health assessments and evaluations. This means having:

- a. Opinions with sufficient explanations
- b. A clear purpose

- c. Logical organization
- d. Relevant and adequate data
- e. Consideration of alternative hypotheses
- f. Data that is consistent with the interpretation provided
- g. Reliance in more than a single source of data (resource)
- h. Avoidance of jargon, pejorative terms, and gratuitous comments
- i. Proper test usage

Academic Dishonesty

Academic dishonesty falls into one of two categories: cheating and plagiarism. Cheating is the violation of classroom rules of honesty with respect to examinations and assignments. Any student helping another student cheat is as guilty as the student assisted. Students found guilty of cheating will receive a failing grade of F for the course. Plagiarism is defined as representing or repeating the words or ideas of someone else as one's own in any academic exercise. Therefore, all of the writing students do for their courses must be their own and must be exclusively for those courses unless the professor stipulates differently. Students must pay special attention to the accuracy of the quotations, paraphrases, summaries, and documentation practices used in their assignments. If students have any questions regarding what constitutes plagiarism, they are encouraged to consult with their professors. If a student plagiarizes, the professor reserves the right to grant that student a failing grade for the assignment or for the course, and the incident will be reported to Phillips' MMFT Site Director and the MMFT Program Director (Campbellsville University).

Late Assignments and Exams

Students are expected to submit assignments at the beginning of the class period on the identified due date. Late work policy is determined for each course by the respective professor. Catastrophic circumstances that might interfere with a student taking a scheduled exam will be individually evaluated by the professor.

Incomplete Grades

A grade of "Incomplete" is not automatically granted to a student who fails to complete the requirements for a particular course. Students requesting a grade of Incomplete must submit the appropriate paperwork (Incomplete Course Contract – see Appendix B) for their professor's approval before the end of the term (copies of which can be obtained from the course professor or from the Phillips MMFT Site Director). Incomplete paperwork will include a plan to complete the course within the next 12-months. Grades of Incomplete will become an "F" after 12-months have expired (upon receipt of a grade change form from the course instructor). Students can only carry two grades of Incomplete per term. Any student with more than two Incomplete grades will not be allowed to register for future terms until at least one Incomplete has been removed. Additionally, if a student has an Incomplete for a course that is a prerequisite for another course, the student may not enroll in the subsequent course until the requirements to remove the Incomplete have been met. A student's MMFT Advisor will notify Student Records to initiate a hold when that student has two Incompletes to prevent enrollment in future courses. At the time of notification from the student's MMFT Advisor, Student Records will remove the student from all future scheduled courses. The student's MMFT Advisor will notify Student Records when the hold is to be removed.

Grievance Policy for Students

Informal Complaints- We encourage students, faculty, supervisors, and staff to work on complaints and disputes with one another informally to resolve them. If the individuals involved in the grievance are unable to resolve their dispute on their own, they are encouraged to meet with a professor of their choosing. If the issue is still not resolved, the individuals involved are encouraged to meet with the Site Director of the Marriage and Family Therapy program. If the grievance is not able to be resolved through the informal process, you may choose to file a formal complaint.

Formal Complaints - In the instance of a grievance occurring with the faculty or staff of the Marriage and Family Therapy program, the student should initiate dialogue with the person with whom s/he has a grievance. Grievances need to be presented in writing. If the grievance is over a grade, the grievance must be filed within two weeks of the grade being posted.

Should the student not be satisfied with the outcome, s/he should then appeal in writing to the Program Director of the Marriage and Family Therapy program. If the student is still not satisfied with the outcome, s/he should appeal directly in writing to the Dean of the School of Theology. The next appeal is to the Provost of the University.

Likewise, in regard to the grievance process for student-to-student grievances, the student should initiate dialogue with the other student in question. If resolution is not reached, the student with the grievance should appeal in writing to the faculty of the Marriage and Family Therapy program via the MFT Site Director. If the student is still not satisfied with the outcome, s/he will be encouraged to appeal in writing to the Dean of the School of Theology. Further appeals should be made to the Provost of the University.

Grievance Procedure

Academic grievances regarding a grade the student feels he/she received unjustly should follow the grievance procedure outlined below:

1. Schedule an appointment to talk with the course professor and present the professor with a written statement proposing a fair and satisfactory resolution. This appointment must take place within two weeks of grades being posted.
2. If resolution is unsatisfactory, the student may next file the original letter presented to the course professor to the Vice President for Academic Affairs (Campbellsville University), and should include a request for a hearing (special arrangements may be requested for students enrolled at the Los Angeles Education Center location).

Field Practicum placement issues, concerns, and/or appeals should be submitted to the Phillips Co-Director(s) of Clinical Training and Placement in writing. The grievance procedure outlined above is to be followed if the student wishes to pursue the grievance to an advanced level after seeking resolution with the Phillips Co-Directors of Clinical Training and Placement.

Affirmative Action

Phillips Graduate Institute and Campbellsville University are committed to Affirmative Action and providing equal opportunities without regard to race, ethnicity, nationality, gender, sexual orientation, age, creed, disability, religion, or political affiliation. Phillips Graduate Institute and

Campbellsville University do not discriminate on the basis of any of the aforementioned characteristics in policies relating to student admissions, scholarship and loan programs, or other school-administered programs.

Transfer Credit

A maximum of 12 credit hours of graduate credit may be transferred from another regionally accredited graduate institution if those credits are deemed equivalent to the course requirements of this graduate program. Transfers must be approved before beginning coursework in this program. Approval of transfer credits may be granted after an examination of the transfer request (accompanied by appropriate documentation) by Phillips' MMFT Site Director and the MMFT Program Director (Campbellsville University). Transfer courses must be full-term courses from a regionally accredited institution of higher education (SACS, WASC, MSCHE, etc.) and cannot be workshops. Workshops are not accepted as graduate courses. While workshops are valuable for increasing knowledge, a collection of workshops is not acceptable for university credit. When entering the graduate program, students are pledging their commitment to complete this program as designed.

Life Experiences

No credit is given for life or work experiences. No credit is given for field or practicum activities that occurred prior to the completion of 13 credit hours in the MMFT program.

Field Practicum

The MMFT program requires field practicum experience of 500 hours in specific categories: 200 hours of individual direct client contact hours, 200 hours of relational direct client contact hours, and 100 alternative hours. Students may begin their practicum experience after they have successfully completed 13 credit hours in the program. Prior to beginning the practicum experience, students who choose to accumulate hours at a site other than the California Family Counseling Center must obtain approval from Phillips' Co-Director(s) of Clinical Training and Placement regarding the adequacy of the field agency and the field agency supervisor. An affiliation agreement between Phillips and the Agency must be prepared and executed by all parties before students being seeing clients at the site.

Personal Psychotherapy

The Phillips MMFT program requires 24 hours of personal psychotherapy in order to graduate from the program. The therapy may be individual, couple, or family from a licensed mental health professional or an associate. Please note that group therapy does not count toward the 24 psychotherapy hours. Personal psychotherapy offers the student an opportunity to explore his or her own personal or family issues, provides the student with the experience of being the “client,” and allows the student to learn from the modeling provided by one’s own therapist. Many traineeships recommend or require that trainee applicants have the experience of being in their own therapy.

Surveys

The MMFT Program will send out two surveys per year. Both surveys will be sent out via Survey Monkey, and both will protect the privacy of our MMFT program alumni, their supervisors, and their employers. The first survey is an Alumni Survey, which will be sent to all MMFT Alumni once a year. The purpose of the Alumni Survey is to provide the program with information as to how the student is practicing marriage and family therapy, what position graduates hold within their agency/organization, their current volunteer/mission activities, their rating of their MFT preparation, their current status toward licensure, whether they have pursued supervision or doctoral studies, their use and skills in research since graduation, and their service populations and interaction with populations-at-risk (domestic and foreign, regardless of age, class, color, culture, disability, ethnicity, family structure, gender, marital status, national origin, race, religion, sex, and sexual orientation).

The second survey is an Employers Survey. The purpose of this survey is to obtain information from employers regarding the practice of our alumni (knowledge of MFT theories, therapeutic skills, ability to practice ethically, ability to practice with diverse populations, etc.). Employers surveys will be sent out to our alumni along with a request that they share the link with their employers and/or supervisors. Again, neither the employer nor the alumni will be identified in any way.

CURRICULUM COURSE DESCRIPTIONS
FOR THE MASTER IN MARRIAGE AND FAMILY THERAPY

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS:

MFC 502 Family Therapy: Systemic Approaches (3 units)

Families are the primary unit of study in this course designed to familiarize students with systems theories. Students study the interaction of parts and the whole, and how intervention with one element of a system creates change throughout the family and the larger systems with which the family interacts. Learning sequentially, students begin with a sensitive study of their own family systems before moving on to therapeutic and counseling applications with other families. The models presented are General Systems Theory, Bowen, Structural, Strategic, and Humanistic/Experiential. The course then moves into the collaborative, strength-based approaches of Post-Modern therapies. Specific counseling applications of these theories are demonstrated in the classroom to help students develop intervention strategies with families and larger systems.

MFC 505 Family Therapy: Evolving Systemic Approaches (3 units)

This course builds on the foundational and traditional systemic theories presented in MFC 502 and examines both common factors and the evolution of systemic theory. Postmodern and evidenced-based family therapy models are presented with an emphasis on clinical application. Clinical factors such as diversity, recovery-oriented care, crisis management and trauma are considered through a contemporary systemic perspective.

MFC 503 Developmental Psychology (3 units)

This course reviews normal developmental processes over the lifespan of individuals, as well as systems including family, schools and the community. The student encounters both theoretical models for describing developmental stages and behavioral descriptions of tasks and competencies at each stage. We explore the interaction between individual development and the stages of the family life cycle. Attention is also given to gender differences in development, multicultural considerations, the effect of early experience, and developmental processes in divorcing and blending families.

MFC 504 Diversity and Social Justice in Families, Schools and Other Systems (2 units)

This course is designed to facilitate the intra and interpersonal examination, awareness and valuing of human diversity and social justice across varying populations and contexts. Students will develop an understanding of individual, family and social roles in the construction of diversity and equity through an exploration of privilege and oppression across dominant and marginalized cultures. Such examination will increase sensitivity to and comprehension of the Psychological impact of cultural forces. The course utilizes a systems and strength-based perspective, honoring a collaborative and community approach to school counseling and Psychotherapy.

MFC 507 Foundations of Counseling and Psychotherapy (3 units)

This course presents models originally developed to work with individuals as a context for understanding marital and family therapy and school counseling. The major focus is on three (3) foundational approaches: Psychodynamic, Humanistic-Existential, and Behavioral and Cognitive-Behavioral theories. The course is comparative and integrative, and offers an introduction to rather than a comprehensive presentation of these historically important models. These models also provide the context for foundational counseling skills utilized by marriage and family therapists and school counselors.

MFC 518 Introduction to Research – I (1 unit)

This course introduces students to concepts and procedures that will help them become educated consumers of research. Students will develop basic database search skills to locate recent studies that document effective practices for working from a systemic perspective. They will become familiar with legal and ethical issues involved in research, and will learn about research methodologies such as qualitative and quantitative research. Additionally, students will develop skills in academic writing such as appropriate use of APA style format and writing in a scholarly voice, and will begin to develop their competence in critical reading of research literature to support their becoming research-informed clinicians.

MFC 521 Introduction to Research - II (1 unit)

This course continues the practice of critical analysis of research. The emphasis is on evaluating research relevant to relational and systemic issues, including the clinical effectiveness of research-informed treatment strategies. Students begin the process of developing their Professional Project while working with an assigned faculty research mentor.

MFC 522 Professional Project (1 unit)

This course continues to support students in the completion of the Professional Project. The goal of the project is to increase the student's expertise in a specific area of clinical knowledge that has a relational and systemic focus. The Professional Project provides a foundation for future professional development and contribution to the field of Marriage and Family Therapy.

SC 519 Case Conference: Pragmatics and Human Communication (3 units)

This course provides an experiential and practical demonstration of the foundational concepts presented in the first term coursework. Students are oriented to the practice of Psychotherapy/counseling with a focus on systemic/relational practices and a multicultural perspective. Additionally, students begin developing clinical skills, including establishing and understanding confidentiality, avoiding dual relationships, and handling personal information in an ethical manner. Throughout the course, students observe actual therapy/counseling behind a one-way mirror and participate as co-therapists with the instructor and on reflecting teams. Following the session, students participate in discussions with the instructor/school counselor about what has been experienced and observed. Communication principles and skills that enhance professional effectiveness are introduced, demonstrated, and practiced.

MFC 523 Case Conference/Practicum (3 units)

Students continue the observational process from first term with clients/pupils, deepening their understanding of the concepts and practices introduced in the first term. Observing and participating as co-therapists and reflecting team members with a different client, students will apply their growing knowledge of theory, assessment and diagnosis. Students will begin to explore their personal functioning, that is their awareness of their impact on others, both in class and as they begin their traineeships and field placements. Theoretical, assessment, and treatment concepts presented in term two are demonstrated and applied in the clinical/counseling work with the case conference client.

MFC 520 Abnormal Psychology (2 units)

This course surveys abnormal psychology from the perspective of the medical model presented in the current edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders. In the course, students are encouraged to think critically about the concepts of mental illness and psychopathology; for example, students examine the impact of the socio-cultural context on diagnosis. Students learn to identify and diagnose commonly seen disorders as well as severe mental disorders in both children and adults. Students also begin developing more advanced skills in the process of differential diagnosis.

MFC 524 Assessment and Treatment in a Developmental Context (2 units)

This course builds on knowledge obtained in MFC 520 in the area of child and adolescent diagnostic categories. The course continues skills training in the process of assessment and expands to include treatment planning specific to working with youth and families. Through in-class demonstration and course assignments, students learn intervention strategies appropriate for addressing different presenting problems and developmental stages. In addition, this course explores assessment and treatment planning with children and adolescents and their families in various settings: clinical settings, schools, and community-based facilities. The practical management of commonly-seen child and adolescent counseling issues and the legal and ethical guidelines related to working with youth and families are discussed. MFC 520 or its equivalent is a prerequisite for this course.

MFC 528 Couple Therapy (3 units)

This course examines theory, methodology, and pragmatics of working with intimate partnerships and will explore various theoretical models for an in-depth view of dynamics in couples. Issues and processes that frequently arise in couple therapy will be addressed, such as lack of intimacy, trust issues, conflicts, relationship dissolution, and domestic violence. The course will also demonstrate methods of therapeutic intervention designed to enrich couples' lives and help negotiate change.

MFC 529 Group Dynamics/Practicum (3 units)

Understanding group dynamics from the perspective of both participant and leader is an essential skill for professionals in the field of marriage and family therapy and school counseling. In this experiential course, students learn the theory and practice of group dynamics. The course includes both didactic instruction on the theories of Yalom and others, and a "laboratory" experience of being in a group. Students are encouraged to utilize this experience to enhance their personal and professional growth. Although not therapy, the experience can be therapeutic for those who participate fully. Students in clinical placement may utilize the group experience as an adjunct to their official group or individual supervision. The instructor and the group will offer monitoring and support as student deal informally with personal and professional issues related to their clinical work.

MFC 531 Applied Therapeutic Methodology: Relational Therapy I (3 units)

This course involves the application of theory to practice in marriage and family therapy. Relational and systemic theoretical models are utilized in the assessment and treatment of individuals, couples, families and children within a multicultural context. Students will formulate a relational and systemic theoretical position as a foundation for their clinical practice as Marriage and Family Therapists. The application of clinical skills is reviewed, including assessment, development of a therapeutic alliance, establishment of clinical goals, interventions, and the ongoing evaluation of treatment. Aspects of professional communications in the mental health profession will also be covered. This course must be taken concurrently with MFC 533 Practicum.

MFC 534 Applied Therapeutic Methodology: Relational Therapy II (3 units)

This course continues the application of theory to practice in marriage and family therapy. Relational and systemic theoretical models continue to be emphasized in the assessment and treatment of individuals, couples, families, and children. Knowledge of theory, the foundations of psychotherapy, and marriage and family therapy learned in the first year are reviewed and applied to cases from the Practicum experience. This course supports the student's experience in supervised Practicum with readings, assignments and resources relevant to the populations being served by the students. Students will continue to formulate a relational and systemic theoretical position as a foundation for their professional identity as marriage and family therapists. Comprehensive written and oral examinations are part of this course. The course must be taken concurrently with MFC 535 Practicum.

MFC 532 Sexuality and Sex Therapy (1 unit)

This course will introduce students to the fundamentals of sexuality and sex therapy necessary for working with intimate relationships as a marriage and relationship therapist. The course has several purposes. First, in a safe and supportive atmosphere, students will deepen their awareness of their own sexuality, increase their comfort with sexual language, and widen their perspectives on sexual variations. Second, the classes will examine the growing merger and integration of two previously separate fields, sex therapy and relationship therapy, thereby helping students decide when to refer to specialized professionals. Third, the course will help students address sexual issues in session and increase intimacy in partnerships. Fourth, the course will help students develop an increased multicultural sensitivity to issues of sexuality.

MFC 533 Practicum - I (2 units) (CR/NC)

In this course students gain direct clinical experience with individuals, couples, families and/or groups at placement sites approved by the Clinical Placement Directors. The MFT Program practicum requirements as well as MFT licensure requirements in California are presented. The MFT Program requires that students obtain a minimum of 400 direct clinical hours (200 individual, 200 relational) and 100 alternative hours while in a Practicum and prior to graduation. The MFT Program at Phillips Graduate Institute has affiliations with a variety of placements, including the California Family Counseling Center.

MFC 535 Practicum - II (2 units) (CR/NC)

In this course students continue to gain direct clinical experience with individuals, couples, families and/or groups at placement sites approved by the Clinical Placement Directors. The MFT Program practicum requirements as well as MFT licensure requirements in California are presented. The MFT Program requires that students obtain a minimum of 400 direct clinical hours and 100 alternative hours while in a Practicum and prior to graduation. The MFT Program at Phillips Graduate Institute has affiliations with a variety of placements, including the California Family Counseling Center.

MFC 539 Legal, Ethical and Professional Issues (3 units)

This course reviews aspects of California and federal law relevant to the practice of marriage and family therapy. The course focuses in-depth on confidentiality and privileged communication, scope of practice and scope of competence, laws defining unprofessional conduct, laws relating to minors and other vulnerable populations, the ethical decision-making process, and the AAMFT professional ethical standards as well as those of CAMFT. Students will recognize when legal and/or clinical consultation/supervision is necessary. The course includes Family Law (issues connected to marital dissolution, child custody, and mediation of conflicts). Legal issues connected to mandated reporting requirements (child, elder, and dependent adult abuse) and to domestic violence are also presented. Students are asked to consider the application of legal and ethical standards within the framework of different theoretical perspectives with various systems, in different clinical settings, and through the lens of their own values and personal characteristics. The development of the identity of the marriage and family therapist is emphasized.

MFC 540 Professional Issues for Marriage and Family Therapists (2 units)

This course updates current clinical and professional issues impacting the practice of marriage and family therapy. Specific topics reflect recent developments in the field. Additionally, this course addresses the students' professional development and identity as a Marriage and Family Therapist as they prepare to enter associateships.

MFC 547 Psychopharmacology (3 units)

The course is designed to introduce the student to the psychopharmacological management of mental disorders. Emphasis will be placed on the role of the non-medical therapist as a member of the health care team in the assessment, referral and management of clients being treated with Psychotropic medication. The course will cover the history of psychopharmacology, basic nervous system functioning, and biochemical theories of mental disorders, and it will familiarize students with the various classes of psychoactive medications used to treat major mental disorders. In addition, the course will address the use of psychotropic medication across the lifespan and within the context of gender, race, culture, and ethnic identity. MFC 520 or equivalent is a prerequisite for this course.

MFC 549 Psychological Testing (3 units)

The course introduces students to the basics of testing and assessment so they can learn to interact with other mental health professionals in ways that facilitate the treatment of clients. This course focuses on several areas: advanced clinical interviewing, basic statistical concepts necessary for understanding tests and measurements, an introduction to most major psychological tests, the important role of testing in psychotherapy, and the process of referrals for psychological testing. In addition, students will gain information on tests that fall under the scope of practice for marriage and family therapists.

MFC 550 MFTs in Community Mental Health (2 unit)

This course defines the role of Marriage and Family Therapists (MFTs) in community mental health care and provides knowledge and skills to adequately fulfill the functions of that role. Special attention is given to culturally-relevant mental health assessment and treatment, recovery and wellness models, strength-based treatment planning and the reintegration of clients (consumers) in family and social systems. The course will also emphasize professional self-care and examine public service as a professional career for MFTs.

MFC 600 Fundamentals of Addiction (3 units)

This course offers a comprehensive overview of contemporary treatment of addictions in a highly interactive format. Topics include theories across time and cultures, the psychology of addictions, understanding and treating the needs of special populations, intervention strategies, concepts and theories of addiction, medical aspects of addiction, and customizing treatment plans to meet specific client-centered goals.

Extended Coursework

MFC 616 Independent Study (1-3 units)

In consultation with the MMFT Site Director, the student designs a course of study combining learning experiences both on and off the Phillips campus.

MFC 546 Professional Paper Extension (1 unit) (CR/NC)

Students who require extended time and/or supervision to complete their professional project must be enrolled continuously in MFC 546. This course ensures use of Phillips' facilities and guidance from faculty while the professional project is being completed. Course may be repeated for credit.

MFC 596 Field Study Practicum (1-3 units) (CR/NC)

In this course, students meet regularly with supervising faculty to discuss clinical work and to explore related issues. Faculty design specific reading and research assignments relevant to the populations being served by the student. MFC 596 functions to assist students who extend Practicum in the program and to meet the licensing board's requirement that, except for short breaks between semesters, a student must be registered in Practicum while seeing clients as a trainee. Course may be repeated for credit.

Option for Non-Clinical Master's Degree 50 Units Master of Marriage and Family Therapy

This degree option allows students who have decided not to pursue clinical practice to complete a master's degree in marriage and family therapy. While this 50-unit degree will not qualify for licensure, it may equip the student for a variety of related professions or provide more opportunities in the student's existing work setting. The student applies for this degree only after completing at least 13 units in the first two (2) terms of the Master of Marriage and Family Therapy program. An individual academic plan is determined by the student's faculty advisor in consultation with the MMFT Site Director. Coursework excludes the clinical block (MFC 531/MFC 534 and MFC533/MFC535).

Appendix C

PHILLIPS GRADUATE INSTITUTE'S CODE OF CONDUCT

All members of the Phillips community are expected to behave in an ethical and moral fashion, respecting the human dignity of all members of our community and resisting behavior that may cause danger or harm to others. This shall include, but not be limited to, violence, theft or bigotry. All members of the Phillips community are expected to observe established standards of scholarship and academic freedom by respecting the intellectual property of others and by honoring the right of all students to pursue their education in an environment free from harassment and intimidation.

Students who engage in any prohibited or unlawful behavior that results in the disruption of a class/clerical setting or operation of the Institute may be directed by the faculty/staff member to leave the class/service area. Longer suspensions from a class/service area or dismissal on disciplinary grounds must be preceded by a hearing.

Students who engage in the following conduct on Phillips Graduate Institute's premises, or at Phillips-sponsored activities, or at activities involving Phillips-recognized organizations may be subject to disciplinary action.

Repeated convictions for violations of the established Phillips Graduate Institute's Behavior Code, regardless of the seriousness of the individual offense involved, or any aggravated violation, may result in either expulsion or suspension from Phillips Graduate Institute.

Attempts to commit acts prohibited by the Behavior code, or assisting others to commit acts prohibited by this Behavior Code, shall be treated in the same manner as completed violations and subject to the same sanctions.

The following violations are grounds for disciplinary sanctions, which may include suspension from Phillips Graduate Institute:

1. Obstruction or disruption of Phillips' educational process, administrative process, or other Phillips function
2. Forgery, alterations, misuse, or unauthorized use of any Phillips documents or records, or any instrument or form of identification
3. Continued disruptive behavior, habitual profanity or vulgarity, or the open and persistent abuse of Phillips personnel
4. Assault, battery, or any threat of force or violence upon a student, the University's personnel, or any other person
5. Willful misconduct which results in injury (mental or physical) or death to a student, Phillips personnel, or any other person, or which results in cutting, defacing, or other injury to any real or personal property owned by the University
6. The use, sale, or possession on campus or at any Phillips activity, or being under the influence of any alcohol, controlled substance, or any poison
7. Willful or persistent smoking in any area where smoking has been prohibited by law or by regulation of Phillips
8. Theft of, or damage to, property of Phillips or any other person
9. Failure to make good on returned checks cashed by Phillips
10. Failure to pay debts, such as fines or loans, and failure to return Phillips property
11. Unauthorized entry into Phillips' facilities, or unauthorized use of Phillips' supplies or equipment, including unauthorized possession or duplication of keys to any University premises
12. Gambling or other unauthorized gaming activity
13. Use, possession or storage of any weapon, dangerous chemical, fireworks, or other explosive, regardless of a federal or state license to possess the same that has been issued to the possessor
14. Intentionally false accusations or malicious charges against any other students and/or personnel of Phillips
15. Soliciting or assisting another to do any act which would subject a student to expulsion, suspension, probation, or other discipline pursuant to this policy

16. Using any communicative device to access or share information during class, testing, instructional activity or meeting with University staff

17. Theft or other abuse of Phillips' facilities and/or computing equipment, including, but not limited to, the following:

a) unauthorized entry into a file to use, read or change contents, or for any other purpose b) unauthorized transfer of a file c) unauthorized use of phone or electronic devices such as fax, modem, etc. d) unauthorized use of another individual's identification or password e) use of computing facilities to interfere with the work of another student or University employee f) use of computing facilities to interfere with normal operations of the University's computing system g) use of computing facilities to send or receive obscene or abusive messages

18. Violation of other state, federal, or local statutes while on Phillips property

19. Violations of other published Phillips regulations or policies. These policies may include regulations governing the use of computers and networks, parking rules, and regulations governing student organizations

20. Any form of sexual assault, consensual or nonconsensual sexual contact, or any other lewd conduct

Title IX Policy

Phillips Graduate Institute/Campbellsville University does not discriminate on the basis of sex in the education programs or activities that the University operates. The University is required by Title IX not to discriminate in such a manner. This requirement not to discriminate in the University's education programs or activities extends to employment and admissions.

Phillips Graduate Institute/Campbellsville University and their faculty members are committed to assuring a safe and productive educational environment for all students. In order to meet this commitment and to comply with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 and guidance from the Office for Civil Rights, the University requires all responsible employees, which includes faculty members, to report incidents of sexual misconduct shared by students to the University's Title IX Deputy Coordinator.

Phillips Graduate Institute/Campbellsville University has adopted and published grievance procedures that provide for the prompt and equitable resolution of student and employee complaints alleging any action that is prohibited by Title IX. Additionally, this grievance process complies with Title IX §106.45 for formal complaints. Phillips/Campbellsville hereby provides notice of this grievance procedures and processes to applicants for admission and employment, students and employees, and all unions of professional organizations holding collective bargaining or professional agreements, including how to report or file a complaint of sex discrimination, how to report or file a formal complaint of sexual harassment, and how the Phillips/Campbellsville will respond in such cases, all of which is set forth in Sections 5 through 9 in the Sexual Misconduct Policy, which can be found here: <https://www.campbellsville.edu/policy/title-ix-policy-procedure/>.

Complaint Procedures and Policy

Master of Marriage and Family Therapy Program

SUBJECT: Complaint Procedures

EFFECTIVE DATE: July 1, 2013

Definition of a complaint:

Expression of dissatisfaction related to a policy, procedure, consequence, action, statement or other treatment or discriminatory act.

The following steps will be initiated in processing a complaint:

1. All complaints must be completed on the appropriate form (1.2) and signed and dated by the individual making the complaint. The complaint forms are available in the Program Handbook (see following pages) and the office of the MMFT Site Director.
2. If a concerned person wishes to address concerns related to a student, the student must give written consent or accompany the person. Federal law prohibits faculty and administration from speaking with concerned persons without student consent.
3. All complaints involving faculty or staff will be addressed by the complainant at the level in the institution where the concerns lie before moving up the chain of command.
4. All complaints will be routed through the MMFT Site Director of Phillips and MMFT Program Director of Campbellsville University.
5. The complaint will be processed in the following manner:
 - All written complaints will be logged in on the date delivered to the MMFT Site Director of Phillips and MMFT Program Director of Campbellsville University.
 - If the complaint is of any department other than those within the MMFT Program, it will be referred to the appropriate supervisor, and will not be addressed by the MMFT Site Director of Phillips and MMFT Program Director of Campbellsville University other than providing documentation or consultation as requested.

- Complaints will normally be processed within two weeks. If additional time is needed to process the complaint, the complainant will be notified.
6. If the complainant is not satisfied with results obtained through the process outlined above, they may ask for a review by the Vice President of Academic Affairs at Campbellsville University.

Note: At any point in the complaint process, resolution of the complaint will terminate the process. A written record of the actions taken will be maintained in by the MMFT Site Director of Phillips and MMFT Program Director of Campbellsville University. All support information and the release of information must be submitted with a complaint.

Student Rights

Privacy Rights of Students

Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University is subject to the provisions of the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). This federal law affords students' rights of access to education records and imposes regulations on the University in the release and disclosure of education records to third parties.

In order to comply with this law, Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University has formulated and adopted institutional policies and procedures to be followed by the University and by those interested in gaining access to education records. These policies and procedures allow students the right to inspect substantially all of his/her education records; the right to prevent disclosures of education records to third parties; and the right to request amendment or correction of education records believed to be inaccurate or misleading. These policies are available for inspection and review in the Office of Student Records.

It is the policy of the University to allow students to inspect and review their education records unless those records contain any of the following:

1. Information on more than one student;
2. Financial information on his/her parents; or
3. Confidential letters and statements of recommendation if the student has waived his/her right to inspect the letters and the letters are related to the student's admission to the University, application for employment or receipt of honorary recognition.

According to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, institutions may release without written consent those records identified as public or directory information for students, current and former.

Directory information includes the following student information: student's name, address, telephone number, date and place of birth, major fields of study, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, and most recent educational institution attended.

Under no circumstances shall a member of the faculty disclose an education record which is in his/her possession or control to any person other than the student to whom it pertains. All requests to inspect and review records not within the faculty member's possession or control and all requests by third parties (including the student's parents) to inspect and review records shall be referred to the Vice President for Academic Affairs of Campbellsville University.

Equal Opportunity

In compliance with federal law, including provisions of Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University does not illegally discriminate on the basis of race, gender, color, national or ethnic origin, age, disability, or military service in its administration of education policies, programs, or activities; admissions policies; or employment.

Sexual Harassment

Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University is committed to providing its students, faculty, and staff with an environment free from implicit and explicit coercive behavior used to control, influence or affect the well-being of any member of the University community. Sexual harassment can include physical conduct or verbal innuendo of a sexual nature which creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive environment. Sexual harassment of any person is inappropriate and unacceptable, and is grounds for disciplinary action including expulsion. Legal action may be taken against an alleged perpetrator.

Compliance with the Rehabilitation and American Disabilities Acts (ADA)

No qualified individual with a documented disability shall be excluded from participation in, denied benefits or, or otherwise subjected to discrimination in any of Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University's programs, courses, services, and/or activities in compliance with the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Requests for reasonable accommodations in programs, courses, services, and/or activities requires current (i.e. within 3 years) documentation of the disability after acceptance to the University and before registration.

Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University is committed to reasonable accommodations for students who have documented physical and learning disabilities, as well as medical and emotional conditions. If you have a documented disability or condition of this nature, you may be eligible for disability services. Documentation must be from a licensed professional and current in terms of assessment. Please contact the Coordinator of Disability Services at 270-789-5192 to inquire about services.

Disabilities

According to the Americans with Disabilities Act, a person with a disability is one who:

- has a physical or mental impairment which substantially limits a major life activity
- has a record of history of such impairment, or
- is regarded as having such an impairment.

Documentation

The Coordinator of Disability Services will ask for documentation to verify the disability, and if appropriate, will cooperate with instructors and Academic Support services to facilitate and track accommodations and services.

No accommodation will be provided without documentation. In addition, Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University will be unable to provide accommodations in the classroom if the student does not give permission to notify faculty that accommodations are needed. Information regarding a student's disability is considered confidential. Information will not be released to anyone without the express written permission of the student.

Reasonable Accommodations

- Accommodations are provided on an individual basis.
- Accommodations are provided to support the educational development of students with disabilities.
- In addition to the academic support services available to all Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University students, some examples of reasonable accommodations include extended time for tests, administration of oral tests, note-taking assistance, and use of assistive devices such as calculators or computers.

Students Right to Know and Campus Security Act

Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University complies with the Federal Student Right to Know and Campus Security Act.

Appendix F

Student Recruitment

Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University's MMFT Program actively recruits students who have a bachelor's degree from regionally accredited colleges and universities, but exceptions can be made on a case-by-case basis within the framework of the university's policies regarding admission of students who have degrees from non-regionally accredited institutions. We also encourage recruitment of students who will abide by the Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University Student Code of Conduct.

Appendix G

Program Evaluation

The MMFT program will receive constant evaluation by the Student Committee (consisting of five MMFT students), the Community of Interest Committee (composed of the MMFT Program Director, two members of the student committee, two MFT alumni, one practicum supervisor, and one MFT employer), the MMFT faculty, and the MMFT student body.

The Student Committee meets four times a year to discuss the state of the MMFT program, to identify areas of concern, to suggest possible changes, and to serve as a liaison between the program director and the student. The Community of Interest Committee (COI) meets twice a year with much the same focus (to discuss the state of the MMFT program, to identify areas of concern, and to suggest possible changes). The difference is primarily who each group represents. The Student Committee obviously represents those students presently enrolled in the MMFT program. The COI represents a larger group. In addition to the student body, the COI represent alumni, supervisors, employers, the university, KIN and AAMFT.

The Faculty Committee meets monthly. Areas of concern identified by either the Student Committee or the COI will be discussed by the MMFT faculty. The faculty will either make a decision or, if necessary, refer the issue to the appropriate university representatives. It should be noted that the Faculty Committee is not limited to discussing issues raised by the Student Committee or the COI. The Faculty Committee can also take the initiative to address areas of concern that impact the program. In addition to the monthly that have already been discussed, the Faculty Committee meets yearly to evaluate the program data collected the previous 12-months (i.e. alumni surveys, employer surveys, student surveys, student course evaluations, exit exam scores, etc.), as well as to review the various course syllabi.

Additionally, each committee will evaluate the program and recommend necessary changes based on COAMFTE educational outcomes, stated learning objectives, university and department policies, student evaluations, as well as the feedback provided by each committee. If changes are recommended, they will be forwarded to the appropriate representatives of Campbellsville University. Those members of the student body not serving on a committee still have an opportunity to have their voices heard. Each course is evaluated at the end of the term by the members of that particular class. The results of these evaluations go to the program director, as well as to the professor of that particular course. Program surveys are distributed to all students on a yearly basis, the results of which go to the program director who shares them with all appropriate parties. Practicum student evaluate their supervisors, the results of which go to the Field Director.

Appendix H

Faculty roles regarding teaching, scholarship, service, and practice

Phillips Graduate Institute of Campbellsville University requires all faculty to meet the rigorous standards of SACSCOC for faculty requirements and scholarship. In addition, it is the opinion of the MMFT leadership that the best teachers are practitioners who deal with all of the practical issues that are common to all MFTs. As a result, it is the expectation of the MMFT program that our teachers excel in both the art of teaching and the practice of Marriage and Family Therapy. Our professors are expected to present MFT theory in a manner that is understandable and practical (our professors will be evaluated at the end of each term by their students). Our professors are expected to embrace scholarship by remaining up to date on MFT literature, by earning CEUs, by attending and leading workshops and conferences. Our professors are expected to model service to our students. This is accomplished by a willingness to spend extra time with students to address their concerns and struggles. Our MMFT Core Faculty professors are required to maintain their own clinical practices, and 100% of MMFT Core Faculty members have met this requirement.

Appendix I

Synchronous Online Learning Guidelines

An online class is the same as an in-person class. Focus and attention during class are imperative. A few rules have been established to foster an online environment that is respectful, productive, and engaging for everyone:

- The camera is your classroom. Like a classroom, you must attend every class with video active and it must always be on unless it is time for a scheduled break. If you need to leave the class at any time other than a scheduled break, use the private chat feature to let your instructor know why you are turning video off and when you will return. Whenever possible, wait for scheduled breaks to do what you need to do.
- As indicated in the basic attendance policy, arriving late to class, returning late from breaks, or leaving early will impact your course grade.
- Mute your mic upon signing on and during class whenever you are not speaking. This is important to avoid background noise and distractions for others.
- Find (or create) a dedicated space for your video classes and meetings. Preferably it's a place with limited distractions around you, such as clutter or activity.
- Find (or create) a place where you can sit up comfortably. Do not lie down on a bed or sofa. Do not walk around, cook, or do other things while in class. You wouldn't do it in the classroom; do not do it here.
- Silence all personal devices (cell phones). Do not check email/phone/websites while in class, as other participants (including the instructor) can easily tell when you are distracted.

Recommended:

- Try to have your light source located in front of you. When lighting is overhead, beneath, or behind you it creates dark shadows on your face. One option is to face a window without direct sunlight. If necessary, close or semi-close blinds or window covering for softer light. Another option is to put a lamp or other light source just behind your computer in front of you. Put it on a box or stack of books, if necessary.
- Position the camera directly in front or slightly above your eye level. Again, put it on a box or stack of books, if necessary.
- As with in-person meetings and presentations, eye contact when speaking is crucial. In small groups or general discussions, speaking with your eyes looking at the screen may feel more natural. However, in a formal context, such as a presentation, speak while looking at camera lens to simulate looking at your audience.

- Clothing matters, particularly what you wear on the upper half of your body. Be conscious of what the camera captures, both on your person and in your home (behind you).

As always, you are encouraged to contribute to class with comments, questions, thoughts, and reflections. When participating in an online learning atmosphere, there are a few things to keep in mind:

- When you want to speak, physically raise your hand as you would in a classroom or use the “raise hand” feature at the bottom of your screen.
- If you prefer, you may ask questions and make comments to the group or instructor silently using the “chat” feature at the bottom of your screen but often these aren’t seen right away and are difficult to read and respond to during class.

Institutional Policies

COVID-19 Statement

Campbellsville University values the health and safety of students and employees. While the intention is to remain face-to-face for classes scheduled in this way, this may be adjusted as circumstances change. Students and employees should be prepared to work and learn remotely as the pandemic situation dictates. Students and faculty may be required to participate in videoconferencing and remote learning for some part of the fall semester coursework. Students and faculty will need access to technology for remote learning including Internet access, videoconferencing (SmartPhone, tablet, laptop, or PC) and webcams for test proctoring. Students may be required to videoconference during scheduled class times. Webcams may be required for remote testing. All classes will adhere to the Campbellsville University Health and Safety Guidelines.

Disability Statement

Campbellsville University is committed to reasonable accommodations for students who have documented learning and physical disabilities, as well as medical and emotional conditions. If you have a documented disability or condition of this nature, you may be eligible for disability services. Documentation must be from a licensed professional and current in terms of assessment. Please contact the Coordinator of Disability Services at (270) 789-5450 to inquire about services.

Campbellsville University has developed grievance procedures for investigating complaints of sexual misconduct, including sexual harassment and sex discrimination.

The Sexual Misconduct Policy can be found at: <https://www.campbellsville.edu/policy/title-ix-policy-procedure/>.

To file a report or complaint of sexual misconduct, contact the Title IX Coordinator, whose contact information is listed above, or use this link to complete an online reporting form: https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?CampbellsvilleUniv&layout_id=2

CU's Title IX website also contains a list of resources and events designed to enhance education around sexual violence prevention and awareness, risk reduction, and bystander intervention.

Student Attendance Policy

CLASS ATTENDANCE POLICY

Students are required to attend all class meetings of courses for which they are registered. Students are responsible for meeting all the course requirements and properly addressing the content of courses for which they are registered. If a student finds it necessary to miss a class, it is the student's responsibility to:

1. Contact the course instructor before the absence, if possible;
2. To make arrangements with the course instructor for missed work; and
3. To provide the course instructor with appropriate documentation and verification of the need or reason(s) for the absence.

The needs or reasons for absences may include only the following:

1. Illness: A specific debilitating ailment that significantly impairs the student's ability to carry on any activities other than those of
2. Unavoidable Personal Emergency: A situation that presents an unresolvable conflict with class attendance due to severe and unusual demands placed upon the student by circumstances beyond his/her
3. Participation in a University-Sponsored Event: A situation that presents an unresolvable conflict with class attendance due to the student's required participation in a University-sponsored event as approved by the Vice President for Academic Affairs (VPAA). Arrangements for missed work due to absences of this type must be made prior to the

REPORTING ABSENCES

Should the student miss class, FOR THE ABOVE STATED REASONS ONLY, and proper prior arrangements have been made, the instructors will follow (for make-up work) their policy as stated in the course syllabi. HOWEVER, course instructors are not required to repeat lectures, lab experiments, music rehearsals, or other classes or components of classes for which making up missed work may be impractical or infeasible.

If, for any reason, a student is absent from class the number of times that the class meets in two weeks during a semester, or an equivalent amount of time during term courses and other academic sessions the course instructor must notify the Director of Academic Support who will send a written warning of attendance deficiency to the student, the student's advisor, and to each coach, director or other person responsible for any school organization providing the student with a performance grant, or for which the student must maintain intercollegiate competitive eligibility.

If, for any reason, a student is absent from class the number of times that the class meets in four weeks during a semester, or an equivalent amount of time during term courses and other academic sessions, the course instructor must notify the Assistant Dean of Academic Support who will initiate the withdrawal of the student from the class with a grade of WA (Withdrawn- Absenteeism). A grade of WA will earn zero quality points as calculated for GPA purposes.

Students for whom withdrawal from a course is initiated by the Director of Academic Support will be allowed to withdraw from said course with a grade of W if the action is taken by both parties within the normal withdrawal time period.

Online Attendance Policy

Campbellsville University's Online Course Attendance Policy Bi-term and 8 week terms: Online students must participate weekly as defined by the professor in the syllabus. After 1 week (12.5%, 1/8th of the scheduled classes) without contact the student will be issued an official warning. After the second week (25%, 1/4th of the scheduled class) without contact the student would fail the course and a WA would be recorded.
